

Birds of the Wildlands and Environs

Orland's 4,500-acre Great Pond Mountain Wildlands and adjacent Craig Brook National Fish Hatchery (135 acres), plus Alamoosook Lake, Craig Pond, Hothole Pond and wetlands along Moosehorn Stream provide habitat to more than 150 bird species. Birders can explore marshes, large lakes, slow streams, beaver ponds, bald mountain summits and hardwood and mixed-wood forests that range from 150 years-old at Craig Brook NFH, to the young forests of the Wildlands. Visit www.greatpondtrust.org for trail maps and tips for birding the area! Can you add to this list?
